Closing of the Country Season.—Already our fashionable families are dropping in from the watering places, and next month we shall have them back en mare. The fair demoiseles, however, who have sought for health by the seasies and at the spas, will not come back quite so fair as they departed. Those "chartered libertines," the wind and sun, will speckle the complexien and spoil its transparency; and if soft to time, these blemishes will not wear off in months, if at all. We therefore recommend to the special attention of all sun-embrowned beauties, that justly selebrated preparation known as I'halon's paphian lotion. Madame Thillon has written an enthusiastic letter in its praise; and her brill liant complexion, pure as alabaster, is a blooming testimonial of its excellence. It will be found at PHALON'S. K.
